BERLIN CELEBRATED the New Year's arrival by eating 300,000 eggs, favorite German dish, and 10,000,000 mincepies. If they were the faulted German pancakes, ten million were many.

In great American cities, the New Year was welcomed with bootleg whiskey that would strip the varnish from the steel wall of a Pullman car.

EVERYWHERE in this country, New Year's Day was celebrated with violation of the law and contempt for the Constitution. That is not such a good way of beginning the year, but it will continue for at least a generation. Laws that men don't want, and that order them, suddenly, to change their habits are not obeyed.

IN 30 YEARS, perhaps, men may do without alcohol, voluntarily. If they do, and if they follow in the wake of other teetotal populations, they will deteriorate.

"No mountain without a valley," says the German proverb. Many believe that men, like landscapes, must have their ups and downs, or become monotonous.

Englishmen have always drunk plenty. A handful of them control 800,000,000 total abstainers in India.

One of the greatest industrialists in America has said that under prohibition, no great strike will ever be won by the workers. "On cold water," said he, "men won't fight. All that's necessary is to keep whiskey away from them."

THE NEW YEAR is under way. Soon we shall have acquired the habit of writing 1925, instead of 1924, and then the new year will be an old story. At the end of 1925 you will easily recognize these numbers to take a new year seriously. They will be about where they were a year before.

How big will the Henry Ford concern be, when it is full grown? Ford begins 1925 with six million more square feet of floor space in his buildings than he had one year ago. That would mean a new factory 100 feet wide and 60,000 feet long. Quite an expansion.

The bigger he grows the better, while he continues his efforts to give the people more value for less money. They like to see big fortunes of the Henry Ford type.

IF MR. FORD would devote a few million feet of floor space to garage use at low rates, for owners of little cars in big cities, he would help the people and the automobile industry. Car production is a problem solved. The cheap garage is still to come.

MERCHANTS ALL over the country will be interested in a customer's garage plan devised by Franklin Simon of Fifth avenue, New York.

Mr. Simon has employees to take charge of cars that reach his store, and, because of congestion and police rules, cannot be parked nearby. He provides a garage space, not far from the store. His chauffeurs take away cars driven by owners, bringing them back to the store entrance when ordered. And the car is insured, fire, against damage while in custody of Franklin Simon employees.

This, the first conspicuous effort to deal with New York's problem of street congestion, is important to other cities.

THE PRESIDENT told 3,000 scientists in Washington that society and government no longer fear the results of the scientist's search for truth. There are, however, some representatives of old-fashioned religion that still fear and denounce scientific discoveries.

They shuddered when Galileo announced that a round earth goes around the sun. They said: "The earth stands still and the entire universe whirle around it. The little says so." And they would have burned Galileo for telling the truth had he not wisely got down on his knees, solemnly abjuring, denying and confessing.

Passengers on the Mohawk Are Landed at Lewes, Del., After Blaze Starts in Gale

Lewes, Del., Jan. 2.—The Clyde liner Mohawk, with 200 passengers from New York for Charleston and Jacksonville, caught fire in one of the wildest storms of the winter off the New Jersey coast and ran into Delaware Bay to save the passengers.

The blaze, which started in the after hold, spread rapidly. Radio messages to the Philadelphia Navy Yard stated that the passengers of the Mohawk had been taken off the steamer and would be landed here, to continue to their destinations, so far as is known there were no casualties.

"The fire was discovered when the ship was enroute south of Sandy Hook. A high wind, accompanied by snow, was blowing. Captain J. M. Staples decided to run for the Delaware Capes, at the same time sending out calls for assistance.

The storm seemed to get worse as he approached the entrance to Delaware Bay and he was unable to anchor because of the thick weather. The ship continued up the bay and dropped anchor near the Brandywine Shoal Light, about seven miles north of Lewes.

By this time several vessels were on their way to the Mohawk and soon the Merchant A. Mervin steamer Persiden, the coast guard cutter Kickapoo and the tug Mares and Katen were alongside, ready to take off the passengers, most of whom had donned lifeboats, prepared to take to the boats if necessary.

Mexican Ship, With 200 Aboard, Missing
Mexico City, Jan. 2 (AP).—Attempts are being made to locate the Mexican steamer Tampamoc, with 200 passengers aboard, and five schooners which left Vera Cruz December 25, bound for Frontera and other Gulf ports.

It is feared they may have been lost in the recent gale.

Prince of Wales to Quit Bachelors Early in '26
by LADY DECIES.
London, Jan. 2.—Persistent rumors are circulating in court circles that the four courtiers upon which the Prince of Wales will be setting out in the next two or three months will probably be his last adventure as a bachelor.

MRS. FRANK D. SCOTT
Wife of Mexican Congressman who is believed to be leading the high life of which he accuses her in his divorce testimony, she was kept busy trying to convert his "small town" into a Capital society.

Alpena, Mich., Jan. 2.—Congressman Frank D. Scott, who was divorced in 1924, is attracting the attention of the entire country, were 123 suits with padded shoulders when he was elected to Congress.

Also, the Congressman was very hard on the suits of his trousers, which he wore frequently darned. Further, Miss Kennedy, his secretary, is blamed for inducing the suit because Mr. Scott would not permit her at the White House.

This is revealed by Mrs. Scott, who today broke her silence and told of the life of a small town Congressman several prominent in his suit.

The doctor, who he went to, continued on Page 16, Column 4.

News of "Suspension" in the Federal Pay Row Is a "Surprise" to Hub Cashier

Captain James N. Greig, local postal cashier, reported to have been suspended by Washington officials for alleged connection with a "slush fund," was at his desk as usual in the Boston post office today.

Postmaster Richard M. Baker, who declared the "slush" was a result of a surplus to him as they were to Greig, believed to official instructions regarding the matter.

It is said that in political circles at Washington the fact has been openly discussed that the Boston postoffice is at present practically a total loss to the Republicans.

DEMANDS WHIPPING POST FOR ALL WIFEBEATERS
Stamford, Ct., Jan. 2.—Reiteration of the whipping post as a punishment for certain offenders was advocated by Alfred N. Phillips, Democrat, retiring from office of mayor, in a communication to his successor, John P. Keating, Republican, who took office here, it was made known today.

The retiring mayor recommends that an act be introduced in the State Legislature providing that whipping posts be provided for men who beat their wives or their parents or persons who abuse their children.

REV. T. A. MILLS ASKED TO QUIT PASTORATE
Chicago, Jan. 2.—The Rev. Thomas A. Mills, pastor of the New England Congregational Church, oldest of the denomination here, has been asked by the Council of the church to make June 30 the time limit for his tenure.

Resolutions asking that limit be set were passed after the Rev. Mr. Mills in his Christmas sermon expressed Modernist views.

He also was accused the pastorate in 1921, Dr. Mills has been active in working with Dr. Ben L. Ruffin, head of the H. H. College.

NEW FIRE SIGNALS
A new fire alarm system for Newton was recommended by Mayor Childs in his inaugural address delivered at Newton City Hall. Among other improvements which he suggested were new fire alarm signals to be installed in the municipal water supply, and expansion of the playground department.

Three-Alarm Fire Sweeps Manchester, N. H. Sock Occupants Rescued by Ladders

Manchester, N. H., Jan. 2.—Thrilling rescues in which firemen carried thirty persons on their backs down ladders from the upper floors of a six-story building featured a three-alarm fire here today.

The flames swept through all floors of the Chase building at the corner of Elm and Coburn streets, leaving little but the walls. Loss was estimated at $150,000.

When the blaze was discovered on a lower floor the alarm was sounded and occupants of the building aroused. The flames had cut off their exit, however, and soon practically every window was filled with men, women and children shouting for help. A second and then a third alarm were sounded when the seriousness of the blaze was discovered.

Firemen threw extension ladders up to the windows of the upper floors and the occupants were carried down by the firemen. When it was thought all occupants had been carried out an elderly couple was found on the fourth floor.

Through the smoke and flames two firemen carried them to the high ladders and brought them safely to the ground. Aside from being partially overcome by smoke none of the rescued were injured.

Four years ago the Chase building was practically destroyed by a similar fire. The upper floors of the building are used as apartments. The lower floor is occupied by a drug store, a beauty shop, a grocery store, and an military store.

NEWLYWEDS RESCUED.
Among those rescued were Mr. and Mrs. James J. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Gannon, newlyweds from Rhode Island, Mr. and Mrs. Merion Campbell, Mrs. Ruth Hastings, Vera and Hurdan Hastings, Aniolante and Loreta Champagnie and Mr. and Mrs. William F. Dean.

HEAVY SNOW IN CAPITAL: STORM MOVES ON HUB
Washington, Jan. 2.—Washington Mills in his Christmas sermon expressed Modernist views.

He also was accused the pastorate in 1921, Dr. Mills has been active in working with Dr. Ben L. Ruffin, head of the H. H. College.

Martyr to Science Loses Hands, Arms and His Life

Bordeaux, Jan. 2 (A.N.S.).—Professor Emile Berthoin died today, a martyr to science. He was a pioneer in radium research and recognized for his work with an award of the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor.

His experiments with the dangerous material necessitated first the amputation of fingers, then both his hands, then both his arms. But he would not abandon his work. He was engaged in directing radium research up to the time of his death.

FIGHT FOR LIFE VAIN AFTER 15 MONTHS

Trapped in the East Boston Tunnel beneath the waters of the harbor, thousands of car-drivers today suffered the inconvenience and danger of one of the worst tieups in years.

Passengers were caught in the jam when a third rail went down between the Atlantic avenue and Broadway square stations.

For nearly an hour traffic was halted, and a panic was widespread when frantic commuters fought their way on foot to stations in an attempt to reach the outer air.

JAM AT STATION.
Trains after train, each consisting of three cars loaded with passengers from East Boston, added to the jam outside the Atlantic avenue station.

Other thousands of men, women and children crowded the platforms and attempted vainly to open the doors of the stalled trains.

Eventually the crowd at State street was sent over to the Washington street tunnel, where a shuttle train was operated to the North Station. Other thousands walked from Atlantic avenue up into the cold.

SERIOUS TIEUP.
Hundreds fought to use the telephone pay stations, either to report the delay at their places of business or to attempt to learn the cause of the trouble.

The tieup was said to have been the worst which the Elevated has suffered since the memorable morning when the power broke down because of a shortage of water.

SAY PRISONERS ARE WORKING ON SCHOOL
A committee representing all the trades in Massachusetts today charged that Sanford Bates, State commissioner of corrections, is employing thirty prisoners from the Bridgewater State farm to tear down the ruins of the State normal school at Bridgewater, destroyed by fire some time ago. The committee went to Bates' office today with their protest and threatened to appeal to the Governor if their protest is not heeded.

POLICE CAPTAIN OBEYS ORDER OF POLICEMAN

Chapter No. 2 Will Be Unfolded When the Trial Board Is in Action

Patrolman George Milan of the Roxbury Crossing station today takes a trial board on charges of striking while on duty and with indignation.

According to Captain Richard Fitzgerald of the Dudley street station, who made the charges, Milan assigned him as he was driving for the Mission Church. Captain Fitzgerald charged that Milan told him to "drive me to station 18 right away." The captain charged that he explained who he was and Milan said he "didn't care who he was, but to drive him to the station."

Captain Fitzgerald did. When he required the station he grabbed the officer and appeared with him in the station where he lodged his complaint.

Town Houses Drawing Society Folk From Their County Homes

By BETTY ALDEN

Of the young married folk established in town for the winter are Mr. and Mrs. Gordon C. Prince. The former Anna Asseels proved herself entirely devoid of any superstitious tendencies by joining the ranks of Married Maidens in the month of May.

Her marriage to the Myopia sportsman, scintillating down Hamilton way, was one of the most interesting social events of last season.

When Mr. Prince and his bride left the reception following the ceremony, they made their departure by way of an airplane—which naturally caused quite a "hoor" of interest among the members of the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Prince are now domiciled for the remainder of the cold season at No. 244 Marlborough street, which they have leased for the winter.

From time previous to Mr. Prince's marriage to the daughter of Holbrook L. Asseels he had made his home at the Myopia Hunt Club in Hamilton. He is one of the leading figures of this sports-loving environment, and has won not a little renown as a steeplechase rider.

When society heard of his betrothal to Miss Asseels the much was said as to an unusually ideal union, for Mr. Prince's wife is quite as devoted to sport as he is himself.

A PROPOS of being settled in Winter abode, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Bitchler, Jr., have taken a house—also on Marlborough street—at No. 164.

Two marriages, consummated last February in Trinity Church, brought on Boston's most aristocratic circle on Marlborough street.

Mrs. Bitchler was formerly Miss Katherine Albert, daughter of the Gordon Abbeys, and upon her wedding from the long wedding journey, the young people made their home in one of the most exclusive of the city's abodes.

It is not only for the winter that Mr. and Mrs. Bitchler have decided to take up their abode in the city.

The home which they are occupying belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Croxall, who are as usual, passing the mid-Winter months at their home in Boca Grande, Florida.

A SOUTHERN North glory reached its peak to town for the winter of the season is Mrs. John Cassel, of "Herald Plain Farm," Beverly Farms. It is the latest with Mrs. Cassel, who is better known as "Mile" in the intimate along the Stuyvesant Avenue and September of each year.

I understand that Mrs. Cassel's lovely daughter, Mrs. John Cassel, "Mile" Cassel, and her husband will be for the greater portion of the cold season at their plantation in Cuba.

Following the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Bitchler, Jr., and Mrs. Katherine Albert, the young couple will be for the winter in New York.

They spent some time there with Mrs. Bitchler's cousin, Mrs. George Albert, Puller (Dorothy Cassel) just before the latter sailed for Paris to join her parents, the Willam Watson Cassels, for the holidays.

The Cassels, who are spending the winter at the French capital, are being greatly missed by the members of Boston's fashionable world.

Mrs. Cassel, for a number of years has been one of the leading spirits for the intimate hospital cabaret, always one of the season's most important functions.

U. S. Weak on Sea Is Before Congress

PROBE OF NAVY UNDER WAY NEXT WEEK

Pacific Propaganda to Make

U. S. Weak on Sea Is Before Congress

By CHARLES N. WHEELER.

Chicago, Jan. 2 (Universal).—Are most of the millions of dollars contributed by the Rockefeller Foundation to educational and pacifist activities employed to weaken the United States Navy?

The British government, for instance, is reported to be aware of these funds and the Rockefeller Foundation is reported to be aware of the funds in American capital ships, and it is said that the report in the offices of the State Department, and will be made public the text.

It is true that the British Navy, in the past, has been a great power. But the British Navy, in the past, has been a great power. But the British Navy, in the past, has been a great power.

WILKES' "BEAUTIFUL NIGHT." Is it true that by this "beauty" thirteen American battleships are made useless against an equal number of British ships of the same armament?

It is true that Secretary of the Navy, William D. Clegg, in a letter to the United States Association, said that "the most beautiful sight in the world is the sailing of a battleship."

Mr. Rockefeller and other great philanthropists really know to what extent their munificence is being employed to weaken the United States Navy on the high seas, both with respect to Great Britain and Japan.

PROBE PACIFIST WORK.

Investigations of equal interest may be answered before the House naval Committee which, after a year of filibustering and almost insurmountable difficulties, finally is to begin the investigation of the United States Navy in Washington, next week.

William D. Clegg, the naval officer who has started the major portion of the world with his own private property, and who is now ready to begin the investigation of the United States Navy in Washington, next week.

POLICE 'VAMP' IS DROPPED IN GLOUCESTER

Officer Who Caught Bootleggers While Dressed as Woman Is Discharged

Glooucester, Jan. 2.—If John E.
Parker wants to "vamp" any more bootleggers while made up as a woman and dressed in the wife's clothing, it will have to be for the sheer fun of the thing.

Parker is no longer city marshal.
He has been dropped by Gloucester's new Mayor, Henry H. Fennell, and the Board of Aldermen. Parker was the only city official to lose his place.

Intoxicated a woman, Parker recently attained notoriety for his activity among bootleggers. In his disguise, his soft voice made the description easy and he secured a large number of convictions from the evidence he obtained in purchasing liquor as a woman desired to the bottle.

GRANITE STATE BOARD FAVORS BUS LINES

B. & M. Plan to Abandon Non-Paying Lines Given Official Sanction

While the directors of the Boston & Maine Railroad were leasing a statement in Boston dealing with the financial condition of the road, the New Hampshire Public Service Commission was going on record as favoring the road's plan for abandoning half its present trackage.

The road directors declare that they have not as yet established any definite policy for reorganizing the road.
The question of abandoning the lines that are unproductive, is also an open one, they say.

Groups of stockholders or bondholders of the road who take up and dispute among themselves these problems and reach conclusions, will be welcomed in conference, the directors say.

The New Hampshire Public Service Commission in its statement, favors the plan of the railroad for replacing non-revenue producing lines in that State with motor bus lines.

The commission points out that these lines can be operated except in bad winter weather and during the time the roads are muddy, while the frost is coming out of the ground.
The commission fails to state what the residents should do for transportation during these unsatisfactory periods.

HOUDINI GUARDED AT SYMPHONY HALL TONIGHT

The future of mediums and spiritualists in Boston depends almost entirely on just what action Mrs. Le Roy G. Cranford ("Margery"), of Harvard University, will take on the $10,000 pooled challenge of Harry Houdini, who comes here tonight in an effort to "expose" them.

It is declared that "Margery" must either come out and make an attempt to solve her claims in a public power or remain in the dark and admit Houdini is capable of exposing her.

It became known today that steps would be taken to avoid any possible disturbance at Symphony Hall. Several of Houdini's agents will be present to guard him.

$164,000 Doctor's Bill Is Settled for $78,000

Bangor, Me., Jan. 2.—A compromise settlement has been agreed upon in the "doctor's bill" action pending for some time between the estate of Dr. Everett B. Nesbitt, Bangor, Me., of Bangor, against the executor of the estate of Edward H. Blake, multimillionaire banker and real estate owner of Bangor.

The original bill for balance due for thirty years was in excess of $150,000. A settlement offer of $78,000 had been accepted by the Blake estate.

Producer Is Here to Pick 24 Hub Girls for Stage

DOROTHY NOURSE.
Winner of "Miss Roxbury" title, who seeks place in "Vanities" company. She is one of many Boston beauties who will meet Broadway's youngest revue producer here today.

At noon on the stage of the Colonial Theatre, Mr. Carroll met several hundred girls who answered the Boston American's call for the most beautiful, talented, most typical Boston girls, with stage ambitions, and began the difficult task of picking out the twenty-four most representative ones to appear in "Vanities" during its run here.

Some of the loveliest girls will probably receive contracts for the Vanities, as Margaret Bruce of Dorchester, Della Harrison of Roxbury and two other girls did last season. One or more also may be taken on the road tour of the present Vanities.

LAUREL BOSTON GIRLS.
"Boston has the loveliest girls of any city in the country," declared Mr. Carroll as he viewed the stage, gazing like a bewitched man.

"And the Boston girl is a type all by herself. No matter what the color of her hair or eyes, her face always expresses an understanding, a sympathy, an intelligence, and an ambition not to be found in the girls of other parts of the country."

FORBES TRIAL BARES WOMEN'S SWAY OF U. S.

Mrs. Mortimer and Mrs. Cramer to Tell of Influence at Capital

Chicago, Jan. 2.—At least a few of the charges of pettifogging government at Washington are exposed during 1921 and 1922, are to be revealed at the Forbes-Thompson suit trial here, it now seems apparent.

It will be not despite the efforts of Colonel J. E. Keogh-Smith, chief counsel for Colonel Forbes, the former Veterans Bureau director who, with J. W. Thompson, millionaire contractor, is charged with looting the soldier hospital funds.

Handolph, Lauchlin and former United States Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, attorneys for Thompson, today intimated that Mrs. Eliza H. Mortimer, wife of the government's star witness, will take the stand to help Thompson, Lauchlin-Smith is fighting the move.

Not only will Mrs. Mortimer, whose relations with Forbes are alleged to have been so intimate that Mortimer will help "cover up" her husband's part in the scheme, also will be called.

Both women have told sensational stories in private interviews with government officials. What Mrs. Cramer knows concerning the situation in Washington during the time the deals in the Veterans Bureau were in progress would tell volumes.

A letter written by Cramer the night she returned to Boston addressed to Otto H. Koenig, his former aide on the bureau and now a practicing attorney in Washington recently was brought to light.

PETER B. KYNE ONLY 2 HOURS IN HUB

Author Arriving From World Trip to Make Return Visit Here

It may sound strange to those who have heard and read of Peter B. Kyne, famous author of "Cappy" books and other novels, appearing in the Commonwealth Magazine, that this famous man has spent but two hours in Boston.

By his own admission, Kyne arrived in Boston for the first time in his life when the Dollar Line President Adams completed its round the world tour and docked at the Army House.

Kyne made the trip around the world to get ideas for several new stories which are to be syndicated through several publications, including the Commonwealth Magazine.

In describing his trip he mentioned the civil war in China, which has been on for several months. He said that the war was hardly more than a kind strike and at the worst it was a kind of riot.

When the author landed at South Boston he went directly to the South Station and boarded a train for New York. He said: "This is the first time I have seen Boston and I am staying just long enough to catch a train to New York. I have heard many fine reports of the city, however, and before long I hope to return here for an extended visit."

WOMAN FLEES FIRE IN QUINCY DWELLING

Mrs. J. H. Nesbitt, a widow of No. 16 Hanna street, Quincy, groped her way through dense smoke to the street to escape being trapped by a fire which virtually destroyed her home before flames, after a three-hour battle, finally had it under control.

Who Broke Into Nell Ashley's Room at the Famous Sheridan House Party

"I heard my door open. I switched on the light. 'Put out that light, little fool!' the intruder ordered."

...Why did this high school girl go to a reform home rather than give publicity to the episode ?

FIGHTING to get justice for a girl who was compromised through no fault of her own, February SMART SET publishes Nell Ashley's own intimate story "Not a Chance for a Word of Defense." In it she tells how it happened that, leaving high school with high ideals and a trusting heart, after her life among fashionable people, she entered a "Home for Incurable Girls."

"House parties seemed so romantic to me!" Nell Ashley says in her amazing revelations. "I was always thrilled when I read about them in the papers. Now I know different, but the dream was pretty while it lasted."

"When I took a position in the menage of the rich Sheridans, and when I heard they were going to give a house party I said to myself that even if I was only an employee I could still see how fashionable people dressed, dined, danced and courted in the moonlit Italian Gardens. I saw it all and more, too."

"A swarm of guests came. All of the bedrooms in the Sheridan mansion were filled. The guests overflowed into the servants' annex."

"Towards three o'clock in the morning I was wide awake, watching the hands of my radio-dial clock creep slowly around, when I heard my door open. I switched on the light.

"Put out that light, little fool!" the intruder ordered, continuing to advance.

"I let out a scream."

"Guests rushed into the corridor. The man escaped in the confusion."

Nell's story goes on to tell how Mrs. Sheridan, rushing into Nell's room, accused her of having committed the unforgivable sin of having disturbed the peace of her jaded guests.

What was a pretty waitress's good name compared with the success of her costly house party?

NOT A CHANCE FOR A WORD OF DEFENSE is one of 23 amazing true stories from real life told in February SMART SET by people like yourself. Among such stories are:

Was She Guilty?

The second mate's bride had big innocent brown eyes. The chief engineer loved her. There came a moment when both men clashed bitterly. How true was suspicion? What did the chief engineer conceal from the mate? The wife's secret, for the first time, is told here.

Her Wedding Night

She was a daring modern girl. When the bridegroom's friend challenged her to swim across the pool, she did it, wedding gown and all. Yet her wedding night brought a strange question to her lips.

White Flames

He was twenty. The fires that burned in him were still white flames. Then in Paris, he met Lucille, a lovely figure model in the art school he attended. And so, with this seventeen-year-old girl he battled fate until—until...

When You Go Hungry

Three hours in a January storm, before the hand-out of stale bread and coffee. A first-hand view of the Human Bread Line where somebody you know may be standing cold and hungry.

I Wanted to Be a Lady

Life started for her in her father's Spanish restaurant near West Broadway. Her aristocratic Spanish blood craved romance in some great hacienda. The Vaqueria Ruby, with the color of blood and danger, led her forth to strange adventures. Then, in a hotel built like a Spanish palace in St. Augustine.
